Meridian International Center's IVLP Team is responsible for administering the U.S. Department of State's International Visitor Leadership Program (IVLP), a professional exchange program. IVLP participants from around the world travel to Washington, DC for the first leg of their U.S. professional exchange program. On average, Meridian administers projects for roughly 1,500 – 2,000 IVLP participants during a single year. To ensure a comfortable stay for the participants when they arrive, the IVLP requires hotel accommodation services in Washington, DC.

The U.S. Department of State's The Climate Crisis: Working Together for Future Generations is part of a global specific initiative that highlights the U.S. commitment to addressing the climate crisis by bringing participants from around the world to share best practices on how to tackle the global climate crisis. Participants will explore U.S. government programs, non-government strategies, and private-sector investments, programs, and initiatives to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, halt and reverse deforestation, pivot to clean energy, and support human and natural populations vulnerable to extreme weather disruptions and longer-term physical changes.

Meridian International Center invites submission of proposals from members of the IVLP Preferred Hotel List (PHL)-DC for The Climate Crisis: Working Together for Future Generations. The visitors are traveling under the auspices of the U.S. Department of State, as are the accompanying Interpreters and Liaisons (I/Ls).

Contractor may be processing special categories of data defined under GDPR (“Sensitive Data”), depending on the services outlined in the Agreement. Sensitive Data includes racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade union membership, genetic data, biometric data, data concerning health, or data concerning an individual’s sexual orientation.
